As a teacher, you will meet students whose lives have been affected by drug use, poverty, neglect, and abuse. You had the option to read one of three different articles, each related to the impact these issues can have on children's development. Draw connections between your article and the textbooks as you explore what your article revealed about how children develop in impoverished or underprivileged backgrounds.

Note: this discussion only mandates TWO sources, since you are primarily focusing on your article of choice.
